Weekly Inspirational Corner

(Sponsored by an Irma Times reader)

They that trust in the Lord shall be as Mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth forever.

As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the Lord is round about His people from henceforth even forever.

For the rod of the wicked shall not rest upon the lot of the righteous; lest the righteous put forth their hands unto iniquity. Do good, O Lord, unto those that be good, and to them that say up right in their hearts. As for such as turn aside unto their crooked ways, the Lord shall lead them forth with the snare of iniquity, but peace shall be upon Israel.
Psalms 125.

Average Weather For August

The month of August will be characterized by cool, wet weather. The entire province will have a little more storminess than usual, with the heaviest precipitation occurring in the central portions. Four major storms will account for most of the month's precipitation, all of them occurring during the first three weeks. The last week should be very good for outside operations. This is true not only from the standpoint of dry weather, but the warmest temperatures of the month are expected during the last ten days of August.

The month, as a whole, will be cooler than normal, with the whole province recording temperatures between two and four degrees lower than long term normals. Coldest weather will be felt around midmonth, when a cold shot will send temperatures down into the upper thirties for a short time. This should be an unusual August apart from the last ten days.

By J. S. Duncan

Check Your Granaries
Many insects which damage stored grain multiply very rapidly in warm weather. Everyone with grain in storage should check it regularly for signs of trouble. If damage or heating is seen, the grain should be moved. Running it through a cleaner gets rid of a lot of insects and gives the grain a chance to cool off. If it might be necessary to fumigate the grain.

Rat Control
The battle to keep rats out of Alberta is going on all the time and everyone should be interested in helping out. The men working at rat control are doing a good job, but they need the cooperation of everyone in order to be a success. Poison is supplied free, also advice, and help from rat officers. Anyone seeing or suspecting rats on their premises should report this, and in the eastern part of the area a close watch to keep poison out and make sure that it is kept replenished and fresh.

Creep Feeding For Calves
With pastures poor this matter of creep feeding of calves is more important than ever. The calves will do better and so be more profitable. The creep should be near a watering place and most people who use them find whole oats as good as any for feed. Plans for a creep are available from the Dept. of Agriculture.

Schools of Agriculture and Home Economics
Now is the time for those who want to get more education and training to start making enquiries and getting information. These schools provide excellent training for young farmers and homemakers. The school term is set so that it fits in with farm work seasons and the costs are very reasonable. Requests for information should be sent to the Principal, Provincial School of Agriculture and Home Economics, Vermilion, Olds or Fairview.

Signal honor won by Yorkton Film Council in Toronto

The Yorkton Film Council, one of the 474 councils established throughout Canada, was honored with a special award "in recognition of its outstanding contribution to the national film festival" at the ninth annual Canadian film awards during a luncheon meeting of the Association of Motion Picture

Producers and Laboratories of Canada, held in Toronto recently. In selecting the work of the Yorkton Film Council, the judges felt that they were recognizing the contribution of the film council movement in Canada.

The presentation was made by L. W. Brockington, Q.C., Canadian president of the J. Arthur Rank organization. Mr. J. Lysyshyn, N.F.B. information officer, of Montreal, accepted the award on behalf of the Yorkton Film Council. An interested guest at the luncheon was Neil Lefroy of the CBC and president of the Canadian Authors' Association, who is a former manager of CJGX in Yorkton.

Another honor to come to the Yorkton Film Council is the appointment of Miss Nettie Kryski, its secretary, who has been named to the executive of the Canadian Film Archives—The Yorkton Enterprise, Sask.—June 27, 1957.

550 Witnesses attend assembly

The three-day conference of Jehovah's witnesses came to a very successful conclusion Sunday evening in Coronation Hall in Yorkton.

A lovely flower-decked platform created an amiable atmosphere for the 272 in attendance on Friday evening for the address of welcome by Mr. Thomas Jones, district supervisor from Toronto. "From day to day tell the good news of salvation by Him," (Psalm 96:2) was highlighted as the theme of the conference.—The Yorkton Enterprise, Sask.—July 4, 1957.

Audience of 3,000 attends mission festival at Winkler

An audience that exceeded 3,000 attended the evening meeting of the annual mission festival of the 50th Conference of Mennonites in Canada in session here. Morning and afternoon attendance was also around the 3,000 mark. It was probably the largest church meeting ever conducted in this area, when delegates from all parts of Manitoba and many points in Canada crowded under the tent of the Brunk revival group, which has been set up here for a three-week evangelistic campaign.—The Echo, Red River Valley—July 3, 1957.

GIRL GUIDES—"Hi, folks, we're having a wonderful time," say the members of Cloverdale Girl Guides as the group held its first camping session last Friday night, until Sunday evening, on the site by Anderson Creek off Colebrook Road. Cloverdale Girl Guides were organized last December. In charge of the unit, and of the weekend camp, are Guide captain Mrs. W. G. Delany and Mrs. Bill Wakefield.

C. F. GREENE

July 7, 1957

Good morning neighbors.

Quite often on this program we call attention to good-neighborly deeds in our prairie provinces, but the Carleton Place of Steinbach, Man., calls our attention to an outstanding example of the international good-neighbor policy. It reports that two separate groups of volunteers, working under auspices of the Christian Disaster Relief and the Mennonite Disaster Service, began work in tornado-struck Fargo, Minn., early this week. Members of the Mennonite Holdeman congregation in Greenland, Kleefer and Steinbach are maintaining a volunteer group at Fargo, and the executive of the Mennonite Disaster Relief at Morris dispatched its first car full of men to Fargo early last week. Volunteers provide their own transportation, tools and time. Food and lodging are provided.

In Castor, Alberta, the good-neighbor policy seems to run to housebuilding. The Castor Advance reports that in the North Haliburton district, friends and neighbors of Doug Haeberle gathered at his farm to help in the building of a new house by running cement into the basement. Ten men and nine ladies were present, along with eight children, all enjoying a good time. The ladies looked after the catering for the men. Lawrence Dunkle acted as foreman over the work on the house.

And in the North Castor district, several friends and neighbors turned out the other day hauling rocks, sand, gravel and generally lending a hand under the direction of Mr. Tommy Doran when cement was poured for the foundation of the house being built by Mrs. Signe Flies.

While on the subject of housebuilding, the Humboldt Journal, Sask., declares: The older generation should make it clear to architects and builders that the new signs of houses with its straight front, picture window and a patio in the rear is going to have an effect on the number of marriages a score or so years from now. We're talking, of course about the lack of verandas on the new homes. Gone are the long, wide porches with their easy chairs and hammock that did so much to promote romance. What remains, if anything, is a poky little appendage with hardly enough room on it for a boy to kiss a girl good-night. Now, a generation ago things were different. A young man could spend a long evening on the front porch, sip lemonade and even get in a little of what now is called smooching when the old folks went to bed. If he couldn't make up his mind about marriage on one of those verandas with large trees shading it, he's probably still a bachelor. The man who can make love on a modern patio with her folks probably gapping out the picture window and the neighbors peering just over the hedge?

Peeking at us from a photo in the Wynyard Advance, Saskatchewan, are a boy and a horse. The paper admits that there is nothing too unusual about a picture of a boy on a horse, but 14-year-old Arlan Bjarnason gets a big kick out of riding a horse that is more than twice as old as he is. Arthur Bjarnason tells us that this horse is 33 years old. Old Dobbin still earns his oats by doing odd jobs around the farm, and appears to be in perfectly good health.

And so is this calf, reports the North Battleford News-Optimist, commenting on the fact that a midge calf, weighing only 18 pounds was born on the farm of Arthur Greening near Edam. It had to be fed by pouring milk into its mouth for the first week. The calf, sired by a purchased Aberdeen Angus, now drinks milk from a pail and is normal in every way but size.

A large-sized animal made its appearance in an odd place according to the Pincher Creek Echo, Alberta, which tells of a most unusual visitor to the Fishburn United church recently. A moose was discovered in the church yard contentedly enjoying the green grass. Mr. John Hoffman was successful in getting several pictures of the intruder.

Another intruder is mentioned in the Minnata Hasty. March, whose Beulah district reporter states: The other day a wolf came up to Charlie Darker's back door. The dog, which is blind and deaf, barked, and Charlie went to take a look. Sure enough there was the wolf; but unfortunately, Charlie couldn't get the door open. So the wolf got tired of waiting to be shot . . . and went on its way. On their way to be enrolled as school students seem to be wild ducks in the Moosedale district, Sask.—to judge by the report in the Melfort Journal which remarks: Mary's little lamb had nothing on the wild ducks around Moosedale school. These ducks are apparently developing a yen for an education. Almost every week this spring, one has come down the school chimney. The climax came the other day when Patsy Hetchler said, "Mrs. Gunter, I believe there is another duck in the chimney." The clean-out door was removed and there were not only one—but three ducks! Mrs. Gunter, the teacher, is considering entering them on the school register and marking them for regular attendance.

And for regular attendance, can you beat this—asks the Rosetown Eagle, Sask. The W. H. Craddock family of North Rosetown have the honor of having a son, Edward, graduate from grade eight this year. Eddie has attended elementary school in Rosetown for nine years and has never been absent from school for a single day nor has he ever been late for school. The Craddock family at one time, had six children attending the Rosetown school for four consecutive years, and not one was any of them absent for any time. This is a marvelous record—thinks the Rosetown Eagle—especially when some pupils nowadays remain away from school on the slightest excuse.

We are not told about his education qualifications, but the Russell Banner, Manitoba, notes that the great-grandson of Indian Chief Peguwa has won a prize for an essay on his famous forefather. Albert E. Thompson, who farms on the Peguwa Indian Reserve, was one of three to win medals in the Manitoba Historical Society's annual Margaret McWilliams essay competition. Other medal winners are Miss Evt. M. Ferguson of Dauphin and Thomas Turnbull of Winnipeg.

Winning recognition for years of faithful church membership was the lady referred to by the Esterhazy Observer, Sask., in its report that Mrs. May Flock, the member of longest standing in Esterhazy United Church, cut a ribbon stretched across the entrance of the new church building recently to officially open the new completed structure. Mrs. Flock has been a member of the United Church in Esterhazy for the past 54 years.

The builder of the first church in his community received congratulations on reaching his 90th birthday anniversary yesterday. He is Achilles Godin of Doureny, Sask. Not only did Mr. Godin build the first church there, but he was Doureny's first postmaster.

Part time Army men on the move

Millitia soldiers are on the move once again all across the Prairies as they converge on a number of summer training camps.

About 2000 part-time army men from privates to brigadiers arriving from barracks to larger cities in three provinces have "donned their khaki 'bush kit'" for a week out in the weather. An expected 1800 will attend Camp Shilo, Man., with another 300 going to Camp Dundurn, Sask. Small groups will go to corps camps in Alberta, Ontario and Quebec. Even the dental corps is in on the deal—they'll go to British Columbia.

A feature of this year's training at Camp Shilo is a demonstration platoon of regular force infantrymen from the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada. They show the foot-sloggers how it should be done and demonstrate the latest weapons.

At Shilo they'll train in six groups. Artillery is the largest with others being formed by armor and motor battalions, infantry, army service corps, medical and the electrical and mechanical engineers. Machine gunners from Saskatoon Railway and Saskatchewan go to Camp Dundurn. The 26th Field Regiment of self-propelled artillery from Brandon, Portage la Prairie and Winnipeg is expected to be the largest unit at camp. Last year they won the efficiency trophy.

Hardest working soldiers at camp won't be the privates—they'll be the officer cadets who spend two weeks instead of one and get it in the neck much harder than they'd dish it out in peacetime.

Paving Winkler Main St. deemed unfeasible now

District engineers of the Manitoba department of public works have advised the town of Winkler that the paving of one block of Main street from Railway Avenue to Mountain avenue is not feasible this year.

They said that frost boils have cropped up again making the project unsound from an engineering point of view. Paving would stand up under frost boils. And once the pavement were laid down under present conditions the frost boils would destroy it.—The Echo, Red River Valley—July 3, 1957.

writes: "If we had mentioned this before Father's Day, we might have saved you a dollar or two. The Toronto Star states that there is a Father's Day flower. Believe it or not, it is the 'dandelion' . . . and the reason it was chosen for Father's Day is that . . . the more it is stepped on, the better it thrives."

Still thriving on married life are these good couples celebrating diamond wedding anniversaries. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Parker of Arden, Manitoba, their 62nd—and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kidd of Rosetown, Saskatchewan, their 62nd wedding anniversary.

A notice in the Coaldale Flyer, Alberta, might lead to marriage; it reads: "An eligible, young, good-looking bachelor of Coaldale wishes it to be known that he will be having to search for the next few weeks. Name on request. Any offers from good cooks? Signed, J.N."

Well—if J.N. gets his good cook—and she is looking for inexpensive potatoes—the Hanna Herald, Alberta, has the answer. It reports that J. K. Sutherland, who farms southwest of Hanna, has a whole "farm full" of potatoes. Offerings at 1 cent a pound failed to draw a customer. So Jack, in order to get rid of the lot, is offering them on a free—"come and get 'em" basis."

Back to the wedding scene, we read in the Westlock Witness, Alberta, that four generations of twins, all descendants of the Riopel family were together at the recent 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. P. Cloutier of the Picardville district.

Another interesting wedding news item was noted in the Maitland Mirror, Saskatchewan. Mrs. William Bullock had a unique experience on June 22. The Bullock family went to Battleford that day to go through the RCMP Museum. While looking through the files of the old Saskatchewan Herald, they found the account of their wedding, which had taken place June 22, 1907. Mrs. Bullock was able to read the account of her wedding on the exact date, fifty years later. She had never read the original account. 3255

Saskatchewan Transportation Company Charter Service

"A charter party at Fort 5 in the Qu'Appelle Valley"

The Saskatchewan Transportation Company, through its charter trips, is helping hundreds of Saskatchewan residents enjoy their annual summer holidays and picnics.

Men, women, boys and girls from different walks of life depend upon The S.T.C. for transportation to and from their places of fun. Whether it be for a day, a week, or a month, S.T.C. buses eliminate the cost and worry of driving an automobile and allow everyone to enjoy themselves.

Organizations, and individuals alike charter buses for the easiest and quickest means of transportation. Every year the Regina Y.M.C.A. sends approximately 200 boys to the Regina Y's Men's Camp Ta-Wa-Si on Echo Lake about four miles from Fort Qu'Appelle for three periods of two weeks camping, fishing, swimming and hiking. S.T.C. buses provide the transportation and carry about 80 boys per trip.

The buses also carry approximately 100 girls to Glen Harbour for two weeks camping which includes a full variety of outdoor activities. Sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. the camp was previously for underprivileged children but for the past two years has been a camp for any girl who wishes to attend whether a member of the Y.W.C.A. or not.

The buses are helping such worthwhile organizations as the Canadian Mental Health Association by carrying groups of volunteers and relatives to visit patients at Weyburn and North Battleford Provincial Hospitals. Three groups from Regina, Saskatoon and Prince Albert travel to these hospitals regularly. The Regina group, comprised of about 30 volunteers and 10 or 12 relatives, has made the trip twice a month during summer and winter since 1953. The Saskatoon group has made such trips since 1954 and the Prince Albert group since 1955. On these trips the group visits patients, taking magazines and holding special functions such as birthday parties once a month. A cake is provided and gifts presented. Some of the group speak several languages to enable them to converse with patients who cannot speak English. The trip is made regularly in fair weather or foul, and the fact that the Regina group has only had one delay due to bad weather since the trips were inaugurated, speaks highly of Saskatchewan Transportation Company service.

Numerous 4-H Clubs from all parts of the Province rent buses regularly to make trips, to points in Canada and the United States for their annual outings. Transportation provided by S.T.C. chartered buses minimizes the work of organizing picnics for employees of large and small firms. Among these many picnics are such firms as Simpsons-Dearns Limited, Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, and the Regina Civil Service annual picnic where a total of eight buses are chartered. These buses travel out to the picnic together, but return at intervals to suit the convenience of the picnickers.

The Army Cadets taking summer training at Dundurn Army Camp are carried from all parts of the Province by S.T.C. buses. While at camp they learn driving, field manoeuvres and receive various trade training.

In addition to all these, departments of the Saskatchewan Government charter S.T.C. buses for special one or two day trips for their officers.

Special tours to the Black Hills and other parts of the United States are run yearly to give the

Funny and Otherwise

Bessie had just received a bright new dime and was starting out to invest in an ice cream soda.

"Why don't you give your money to the missionaries?" asked the minister who was calling at the house.

"I thought about that," said Bessie, "but I think I will buy the ice cream soda and let the drug-gist give the money to the missionaries."

Two race horses trotted impatiently in adjoining stalls before the derby. "You might as well save yourself the effort of competing tomorrow," spoke one. "I've got the derby all sewed up." "Says you," scoffed the other. "What makes you so sure of yourself? Didn't you see my owner whispering in my ear just now?" said the first horse. "He was telling me that if I won tomorrow, he'd give two extra halves of hay. And brother, that ain't money!"

TV and radio programs featuring rustic renditions by a guitar, banjo and fiddle usually win high ratings. Square dances keep many teenagers out of trouble. Thousands go to hear mountain music concerts by groups like the "Grand Ole Opry" ensemble.

The bull fiddle player of such a troupe once was asked whether he and his confederates could read music. "I reckon we kin in a pinch," he answered, "but not enough to spoil our playin'."

Highway death rate up sharply in 1956

It was considerably more dangerous, absolutely and relatively to drive a car in Canada in 1956 than in the two previous years.

With traffic deaths totalling 3,183 in 1956, the death rate per 100 million vehicle miles of travel was 6.3 compared with 5.0 in 1955 and 5.2 in 1954.

On the basis of vehicle miles there has been a steady drop in the highway accident death rate from 1931 until this reversal in 1956.

Warns Against Feed Shortage

The possibility of a fodder shortage before the spring of 1958 because of a lack of rain this season has prompted R. M. Putnam, deputy minister of agriculture, to warn Alberta farmers to make sure they secure sufficient fodder.

The situation has been made more acute by the rapid growth of Alberta's cattle and sheep population the deputy minister said. The total number of cattle on Alberta farms increased from 1,563,000 head in 1951 to 2,449,000 head in 1956, while sheep on farms increased from 330,000 in 1951 to 405,000 in 1956.

In addition to putting up regular hay crops, hay in sloughs, on roads, and in cut-of-the-way corners, can add to the supply of fodder the deputy minister suggested. He said the cutting of crop seed for grain is justified if regular sources of hay are insufficient for the farm needs. As a last resort straw can be baled and stored to meet any emergency that may arise before next season's grass is available.

Mr. Putnam said most sections of the province suffer from a short crop of grass. He said farmers in every area should take care of their own needs since it would be difficult under the circumstances to obtain hay when there are few areas that are likely to have a surplus.

All this farm spending for consumer goods and services helps to keep a great many Canadians employed in a wide variety of businesses and is a powerful stimulant to progress and prosperity. This is made possible by good farm management, efficient practices which include the use of modern farm machinery.
